

EDISON THE PETIT RESIDENCE

If an organized life is the key to better living, the Edison the Petit Residence unlocks a world of possibilities.

Here's the story

Keys, telephones and lipsticks are the objects we tend to lose the most. In our busy lives, this is all not too surprising. In order to provide peace of mind and to give these items their fixed place, Fatboy developed the Edison the Petit Residence.

There are many reasons that led to the creation of this convenient little storage shelf. Practical benefit is one of them. Paying tribute to Fatboy's little table lamp Edison the Petit is another one. So just like the name reveals, this nifty plateau seats Edison the Petit in an honorable way. A stylish homebase for the lamp as a spacious tray that welcomes keys, cherished trinkets and those shopping cart coins that are always missing when you need them.

The Edison the Petit Residence features some very nifty gimmicks. First, it's up to the user where to put it. Place it on a cupboard, or mount Edison the Petit Residence to the wall with a cleverly hidden bracket. As for the lamp, a subtle hole in the middle of the bottom of the Residence makes room for a wire. This allows the lamp to charge while still standing in position.

Since beauty is in the eye of the beholder, Edison the Petit Residence comes in six different colors and features a small, removable standing mirror in the same shape as the tray. Don't fancy looking at yourself? The empty slot will perfectly hold your mail or photographs. Needless to say, this device doesn't come with a complimentary lipstick.
